⇒ Our Gospel shows us the third and last appearance of Jesus after his resurrection. This time he appeared to the disciples while they are fishing in the Sea of Tiberias. They may be frustrated because they caught nothing. But through the presence of Jesus, they have a miraculous catch. Jesus instructed them to “cast the net over the right side.” True to his words, the disciples have a miraculous catch of a number of fish. At first, nobody recognized that it was Jesus who instructed them.

⇒ In this passage, Peter was the first disciple to recognize the presence of the risen Lord. Accordingly, the Johannine community esteemed and respected this disciple because he is the source of inspiration and principle of unity. He remained intimate with and faithful to Jesus. In the same way, we need somebody in the community to be our source of inspiration and unity, and more important, a person who can discern and recognize the hand of God in our midst.

⇒ Peter gained importance in the eyes of Jesus. He is not a perfect disciple. He had been disappointed Jesus. He had betrayed Jesus. He denied him for three times. But there is a mystery. Jesus entrusts the community or the Church to, Peter, who was a failure. This shows that the call of Christ does not exclude falls and failures. The triple question of Jesus has something to do with the triple denial of Peter during the trial of Jesus. This denial has been transformed into a confession of love. The forgiving God is giving the fallen Peter a chance to restore his dignity and to renew his commitment and love to Jesus. May we learn from Jesus how to be forgiving and compassionate to people who are actually like us: weak, frail and not perfect.
