Who was at the Last Supper?

Jesus said to his disciples—not only to his apostles—“Do this in memory of me.” Were there more people at the Last Supper than the Twelve?

Scripture and Tradition teach us that prior to his arrest and subsequent crucifixion, Jesus wanted to celebrate the Passover meal in the company of his twelve closest disciples, the apostles.

Because there is no documented detailed guest list telling us once and for all who was in attendance, it’s difficult to speculate on who else might have been present at the Last Supper.

We do know that the Last Supper is where Jesus instituted the celebration and sacrament of what we know today as the Eucharist. His command to “do this in memory of me” was made to his apostles and their successors so they would repeat this action in proclamation of the Lord’s death for the world’s redemption until he comes again (see 1 Corinthians 11:23–26).

It’s a command the Church obeys whenever the faithful gather for the breaking of the Bread and what we now celebrate as the Eucharist or the Mass.

Therefore, the details of who was present at the Last Supper aren’t as important as the fact that we continue to obey the Lord’s command to do this in his memory to this very day.

THIRD SUNDAY OF EASTER (B)

Acts 3:13–15, 17–19 / 1 Jn 2:1–5a / Lk 24:35–48

During a particularly difficult period at one place I worked, I would come home at night and rehash conversations and events, wondering whether the outcome would have been different if I’d said or done something else.

I wonder whether the apostles asked themselves the same kinds of questions after the crucifixion. “Should we have done something differently? Could we have prevented this somehow?” Perhaps they locked the door because they were afraid they’d be put to death too.

When we’re in a bad situation, sometimes all we want to do is hide. It’s a child’s response: If I don’t look at it, maybe it will go away. But the locked door was no barrier, and Jesus came and stood in their midst. Rather than ridicule their fear, he gently put it to rest: “Peace be with you.” The more Jesus talked, the more they heard, and they came to know that the peace of the Lord is not like the world’s peace.

It’s not a temporary measure that will only give way to more turmoil. Jesus calmly and lovingly put their fears to rest. It wasn’t that the world was suddenly going to be welcoming; rather, they would be confident in the new life that was in them and in the grace Christ alone can give.

Jesus does this for us as well. He walks through the locked doors of our hearts and blesses us with peace. The more we listen to Jesus’ words, the more we can understand and witness to his truth.

Is the Lord with you today?

Thank You !APRIL 23*ST. GEORGE FEASTDAY :

Little is known about George, who was killed for his faith in Palestine at the beginning of the fourth century. Believed to be a soldier in the Roman army, he was involved in the organization of a Christian community at Urmiah (modern Iran), and visited Britain on an imperial expedition. During the reign of Edward III (14th century), he was made a patron of the kingdom. George is also patron of several Mediterranean and European countries and cities, and the Boy Scouts.

George has figured prominently in popular feasts and folklore : 12th-century literature hailed him as the dragon-slayer. During the Middle Ages, he was a popular patron of knights, soldiers and crusaders, who adopted what was called St George's Arms, a red cross on a white background. The red cross appears on the modern Union Jack.
