“Feed

Sheep”

Fourth Sunday of Easter: April 29th

To be good stewards we must be good shepherds, willing to lay down our lives for those committed to our care, not mere hired hands who run off, “leaving the sheep to be snatched and scattered by the wolf.” See John 10:12

49th World Day of Prayers for Vocations : 29 April 2012

Pope Paul VI instituted the World Day of Prayer for Vocations (the 4th Sunday of Easter) on the 11th April 1964 by saying; “O Jesus, divine Shepherd of the spirit, you have called the Apostles in order to make them fishermen of men, you still attract to you burning spirits and generous young people, in order to render them your followers and ministers to us” (Pope Paul VI launching the 1st Word Day of Prayer for Vocations)
In the years since, successive pontiffs have called on the Church to focus and pray for vocations. World Day of Prayer for Vocations is on Sunday April 29, 2012

Fourth Sunday of Easter

Acts 4:8-12 / 1 Jn 3:1-2 / Jn 10:11-18

Have you ever worked for a boss who's just "in it for the money"? Perhaps he never puts in a minute beyond the absolute minimum hours. Maybe she doesn't invest any time in you—never asks how your weekend was or how your family is doing. It's rarely enjoyable to work for someone like that. It can be difficult to feel motivated to do quality work when your leader isn't invested in you or the value of your work.

On this Good Shepherd Sunday, Jesus is upheld as a model leader. He contrasts himself with a hired man who works only for pay and doesn't concern himself with the flock. We hear repeatedly, though, that Jesus is willing to lay down his life for his sheep. There's a genuine investment, a deep connection, an intimate relationship between Jesus as leader and his beloved sheep.

This is more than just supervisor and supervisee, more than just a hired watcher of sheep and some random animals. The intimacy between Jesus and his people is profound.

We hear this intimacy echoed in today's second reading when John reminds us that we are God's children. God, who is so powerful and so almighty, has drawn us into such a loving relationship as to name us his children.

How does Jesus' deep love for us affect our lives? It's difficult to want to do good work for a leader who isn't invested in you, but we are led by an incredibly loving Lord—do we live our lives aware of this love? Are we willing to be transformed every day into more loving people because of how much God loves us?

It's not an easy call, but we have an incredible model to follow—a truly Good Shepherd.
