Pastoral Reflection: 4th Sunday of Advent Gospel
(Luke 1,39-45)

Change

No matter how we profess our culture as progressive, there will always be a fear of change. Novelty should not be for novelty sake. World views, habits, and relationships keep us guarded, safe. Yet, trying to conserve the past, even the best of the past, blinds us from the possibilities of the new. When novelty comes, do we truly look? Or, do we glance with a dismissive turn of the head? Can we allow the new to stand on its own?

An elderly woman, Elizabeth took a chance to receive the new. And she received the mother of her Savior.

As we well underway in this new millennium, our culture of ever faster change cries out for stability. But we cannot resist the change. Our challenge is to act like Elizabeth; in wisdom, we are to embrace the good of the change and act as bridges of the new. Yet, we are to be like Mary and bring Christ into an insecure world that needs faith.

Fr. Dennis Remot
