The Baptism of Our Lord

Is 42:1-4, 6-7 / Acts 10:34-38 / Mt 3:13-17

You never get a second chance to make a first impression. Though today's feast day celebrates Jesus' baptism, in today's Gospel the Holy Spirit is the one making the first impression. As Jesus emerges from his baptism, the Holy Spirit descends on him in the form of a dove—a gentle bird normally associated with peace. That's certainly one first impression of the Holy Spirit.

However, as we know from Jesus' ministry, the Holy Spirit's work in him was hardly quiet and peaceful. Jesus spent his life turning the status quo upside down—challenging those in power and uplifting those who were oppressed. Jesus called for repentance from sin, healed the outcast, and overturned the moneychangers' tables in the temple.

As we hear in the reading from Acts, after his baptism Jesus was filled with "the holy Spirit and power." Talk about a second chance to make a first impression—this Holy Spirit turned out to be no meek dove, but a mover and a shaker!

Though Jesus' baptism was different from ours, we too receive the power of the Holy Spirit in our baptism and in the sacrament of confirmation. And the Holy Spirit seeks to move and shake in our lives, just as it did in Jesus' life.

But we're not marionettes controlled by the Spirit. We must respond to the Spirit's urging. In the moments when a colleague tells a racist joke, when we see a stranger treated unjustly, or when a lonely neighbor aches for companionship—in those moments, the Holy Spirit calls us to speak out in justice and to reach out in love. The Spirit continually seeks to make new first impressions in the world through our actions—if we are willing to respond.

STEWARDSHIP Bulletin Bits - on Readings :

Jan. 9th Baptism of Our Lord : Our Baptism, like the Lord's, is a consecration to service. The bishops' pastoral on stewardship reminds us that "... there is a fundamental obligation arising from the Sacrament of Baptism that people place their gifts, their resources – their selves – at God's service in and through the Church".

REMEMBER : Bulletins are on our parish website when you need to check for ministries schedules or other bulletin contents ...
