

*The spirit of the Lord has been given to me,
for he has anointed me. He has sent me to bring the good news to the poor, to proclaim liberty to captives and to the blind new sight, to set the downtrodden free, to proclaim the Lord's year of favour.*

Third Sunday in Ordinary Time: January 24th

The U.S. bishops' pastoral on stewardship reinforces today's reading from 1 Corinthians: "Because its individual members do collectively make up the Body of Christ, that body's health and well-being are the responsibility of the members – the personal responsibility of each one of us. We all are the stewards of the Church.

RECENT BAPTISMS:

Please pray for Kenton Joseph PITRE, child of Joseph E. Pitre and of Danica M.

(Hall), and for Dex William DABROWSKI, child of Derek Dabrowski and of Nika (Lewis).

Today's theme:

We should listen to God's Word in three ways :

with the ear of our mind,
with the ear of our heart,
and with the ear of our soul.

In other words, we make God's Word come alive in our mind.

We take it to heart.

We talk to God about it and listen to what he might want to say to us about it.

In the time of Jesus, there were two places of worship in Israel: the Temple and the synagogue. There was only one Temple; it was located in Jerusalem. But there were hundreds of synagogues; every village had one.

The Temple was a place of sacrifice. There Jews offered to God such things as lambs and doves. The synagogue was a place of instruction. There Jews listened to God's Word and tried to apply it to their lives.

As you'd expect, the synagogue service and the temple service have their counterparts in our Mass. The first half of the Mass is like the synagogue service. It's called the Liturgy of the Word and deals with reading Scripture and applying it to our lives – just as Jesus did for the people of Nazareth in today's gospel. The last half of the Mass is like the temple service. It's called the Liturgy of the Eucharist and deals with offering sacrifice – just as Jesus did at the Last Supper.

There we read:

“Likewise [Jesus took] the cup after [the disciples] had eaten, saying, ‘This cup is the new covenant in my blood, which will be shed [that is, sacrificed] for you.’”

Luke 22:20
