Today's three Scripture readings are intended to prepare us for the coming of the Holy Spirit on Pentecost, which we will celebrate in two weeks.

And so let's begin our preparation by taking a closer look at the Holy Spirit.

The Holy Spirit helped give life to the world, life to Jesus, and life to the Church and also gives life to us in baptism.

And so the Bible portrays the Holy Spirit as being closely connected with the gift of divine life.

This is the mystery we prepare to celebrate in two weeks. This is the mystery that calls forth from us wonder, joy, and gratitude.

PARISH PASTORAL COUNCIL JUNE MEETING THURS.the8th

The Command to Love

How do we know we are loved? On a bus, a believer and a non-believer discussed the Christian life. "Jesus lives," the believer said. "Only in your mind!" the non-believer retorted with a cynical sneer. "And in my heart," the believer replied.

Knowledge of faith requires more than the rational arguments used in apologetics. Only when we begin to love God and reflect that love in daily living can we gain true insight. And influence others.

This portion of Jesus' farewell discourse falls on the heels of last week's study. As you remember, Jesus stated he lived in an intimate love with the Father. Now, Jesus would empower his followers to love same way he did. And, he promised to be with them.

We can sum up the fullness of all God's gifts in one word: Love. The outpouring of God's love forgives our sin, restores us in communion with God, and empowers us to pass God's gift of love to others. Indeed, "God is Love" (1 John 4:8) and any relationship with God must be firmly rooted in love.

The Holy Spirit brings us God's love. In fact, the Spirit and God's love are so intertwined that the gift of God's Spirit is a gift of his love. When we experience transcendent love, we know the Spirit lives in us. When we love others, we follow the prompting of the Spirit. The fruit of the Spirit speaks directly to love: love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, self-control.
