Christ the King Sunday: Nov. 20th
 When the Son of Man comes in glory, may we be among those who have fed the hungry, welcomed the stranger, and clothed the naked. For Jesus tells us clearly that it is those who have demonstrated good stewardship by sharing their gifts with the less fortunate who will receive God's blessing and inherit the kingdom.

NEW SUNDAY MISSALS are for sale $5.00; also Young Catholics Missals $5.00 each

Would you like to remember /pray for your deceased loved ones in a special way? Please consider Mass Intentions for them, or for any intention, at $10.00 per Mass. What is Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament?

What is the difference between Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament and Exposition of the Eucharist?
Marcella

Dear Marcella,
 Exposition and Benediction are the beginning and ending rituals of eucharistic adoration. In Exposition, the Blessed Sacrament is placed in a monstrance for public adoration. In Benediction, the priest or deacon blesses the assembly with the consecrated host.

Designated laypersons can do the Exposition of the Eucharist, but Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament can be performed only by a priest or deacon. A layperson may return the Eucharist to the tabernacle after adoration.

Adoration of the Eucharist displayed in a monstrance or simply locked in a tabernacle became an important devotion during the Middle Ages. In modern times, it has increased in popularity at the encouragement of Pope John Paul II. Parishes throughout the United States have perpetual-adoration societies and chapels where the Eucharist is exposed 24 hours a day.

The devotion of adoration of the Eucharist can be a time of great stillness for those who practice it. It is never to be a substitute for the celebration of the Eucharist or the reception of holy Communion, but adoration as a form of prayer, meditation, and contemplation is a valuable source of openness to Christ, who speaks to us in the silence.

OUR LORD JESUS CHRIST THE KING

Ez 34:11-12, 15-17 / 1 Cor 15:20-26, 28 / Mt 25:31-46

My brothers and I have long teased our mother about her asking-for-the-manager skills when she has an issue with customer service. When she has a valid complaint, she keeps asking for the next supervisor up until she reaches someone who deals fairly with her. She is bold and unafraid!

When she received extremely unprofessional service at her automotive dealer, she kept asking for help until the general manager was involved. He gave her his cell phone number and came to the service floor to supervise the work on her car. My mother sensed a very different aura among the staff once the general manager was involved.

Perhaps today's first reading should be entitled "Christ the General Manager." Ezekiel's prophecy reveals that God is personally involved in the care of his children. We hear, "I myself will search for my sheep and examine them...I myself will pasture my sheep; I myself will give them rest." There's no middle-manager here—Christ is the one doing the work of seeking and healing, personally involved in our interactions with those in need. In fact, Christ is identified with the most vulnerable and poor. This is no distant God-king, but one who is deeply engaged with humanity.

There's both comfort and challenge here. Comfort in knowing how close Christ is to us and how tenderly he cares for us, challenge in realizing Christ calls to us through the poor outside our doors who need assistance. As we conclude one liturgical year and look toward the next, we can celebrate with joy our "general manager" God who leaves the corporate office—the heavenly throne—to live so intimately among us.
