ANNUAL APPEAL BULLETIN REFLECTION :

"If you have faith the size of a mustard seed, you could say to this mulberry tree, 'Be uprooted and planted in the sea,' and it would obey you." (Luke 17:6)

Most of us are aware that a mustard seed is incredibly small; in fact, it was one of the smallest seeds known in the world. The mulberry tree, on the other hand, was known to have a vast and large network of roots which spread far out from the trunk of the tree.

Jesus' point is that faith cannot be measured by size or depth. It is as if He is saying that the key is quality, not quantity. It is not the size of one's faith, but its presence, and the willingness of each person to rely on that faith in trying times.

One of the most important facets of a disciple's life is trust in God. It is that trust, a trust built on faith, which gives us the strength to follow lives of responsibility and service. What Jesus is saying at the end of today's Gospel, "...we have done only what we ought to have done," is that service is a privilege – a gift of God's love and mercy, not a burden. Twenty-Seventh Sunday in Ordinary Time: October 2nd

When will I have given enough - of my income, of my time, of my talents?
Today's Gospel suggests that only total stewardship will do: "When you have done all you have been commanded to do, say, 'We are useless servants. We have done no more than our duty.'" See Luke 17:10

How To Deal With Your Temper?

Do you lose your temper quickly? When you're caught in traffic, do you lose your cool? Do you have shouting matches with your spouse? Do you yell at your kids often? Do you use degrading language? Do you not speak to people you're angry with for days, weeks, or even months? If your answer is "Yes" to some of these questions, then you have a problem with patience. And you need to hear what I'm going to say today.

Here's my big message for you today: Impatience means you lack trust in God. Many times, you're impatient because you take matters in your hands. If you want to be patient, learn to take matters into God's hands. (If you don't understand this yet, it's okay. By the end of this article, you will.)

Let me tell you a story. One day, a husband and wife were at home eating breakfast. Right in front of the wife was their window, and through it, she could see her neighbor hanging clothes on the clothesline. "Look at those clothes! They're dirty!" she told her husband. "Does she even use detergent? My goodness."

The next day, as they sat at the table eating breakfast, she saw the same scene again. She said, "I can't believe how dirty those clothes are. Someone has to teach that woman how to do the laundry!"

And for the next few days, she kept criticizing her neighbor.

But after a month, as they ate breakfast, she looked through the window and was surprised to see very white, clean clothes. "It's a miracle!" the wife told her husband, "Our neighbor finally learned how to wash clothes!"

The husband smiled. "Not really. Finally, this morning, I cleaned our windows..."

Patience is not an external problem. Patience is always an internal problem. Circumstances don't cause your impatience. Traffic doesn't cause your impatience. Your unruly child doesn't cause your impatience. You cause your impatience.

You need to wash your windows.

Where Does Your Impatience Come From? Impatience comes from your desire to control things that you have no control over.
