PARISH MISSION Spirituality of Waiting

Holy Waiting Holy Longing
Tues to Thurs Nov 23, 24, 25 7-9 PM
With Vivian Bosch & Fr. Ed Hengen as presenters

COMMITMENT TO THE FUTURE

As people of faith, we are committed to the mission that Jesus has given to us to serve those in need. This mission is carried out through programs and services which, practically, have to be supported financially. It means faith education and development for children, youth, and adults; services for families, liturgy committees, social justice and rural life. Each one is called to respond to the call of the Gospel in order that the work of Christ may be extended throughout the Archdiocese of Regina.

Please read THE ARCH page 7 about this year's Appeal. It's a 4-month campaign- all funds to be in by Dec. 31st. Amounts will be included on tax receipts that will be issued from the Parish early 2011. Rebates will be paid out as of Dec. 31st.

TASTE & SEE

Thank you to all who attended our Taste and See breakfast. Special thanks to the CWL members for their generous contributions of breakfast items, and their time and talent. Thank you to Mom's Florist for the beautiful flower arrangements for the tables and for selling tickets; to Z-A Computers for selling tickets; to Carol Marit for playing piano; to the Breast Friends for their generous donation of 2 cookbooks for door prizes; to Wendy & Heidi Hepburn (Girl Guide organization) for helping us with clean up; and to Susan Robinson for her generous donation. $245 from the sale of cookbooks will be donated to a Breast Cancer Organization. Thank you all for your support.

STEWARDSHIP Bulletin Bits - on Sunday Readings :

OCTOBER 31 : We are called to be good stewards of our personal vocations. St. Paul's prayer for the Thessalonians is therefore, ours, too --- "that our God may make us worthy of his calling and powerfully bring to fulfillment every good purpose and every effort of faith." See 2 Thessalonians 1:11
NOV 7 : In today's second reading St. Paul prays that the Thessalonians may be strengthened "in every good deed and word." May we, too, be strengthened and empowered to use our time and talents for the good of others.

Thank You very much for your generous support of World Mission Sunday last week. Your prayers and donations will make a huge contribution to the growth of the Church and to the well-being of the poor of our world. Please continue to pray for all those who serve in mission countries that they may remain steadfast in their vocation to bring Christ's message of love to those they serve – the world's most vulnerable.

HELP WANTED – Your Parish is in need of more sacristans; if interested, please call Rose Delorme 642-5137 or 640-8824 ①

The Archdiocese is hiring a Part Time Director of Communications & Public Relations - back of church

New Missals for sale at the back of the church $4.00

Thirty-first Sunday in Ordinary Time

Wis 11:22—12:2 / 2 Thes 1:11—2:2 / Lk 19:1–10

The human family has been around long enough to collect some real characters in the family album. Saint Thomas Aquinas, for example, will help you with your studies. Ironically, one of his nicknames was “the Dumb Ox.”

Archaeologists can depend on Saint Helena. When her son the emperor Constantine made Christianity legal, she found a lot of locations in the Holy Land linked to the life of Jesus.

Dentists can turn to Saint Apollonia. Saint Jude helps with impossible cases.

Is all this silly? Actually, our saints tell us something profound about our belief in the resurrection: All those who have died in Christ are now alive in Christ. Baptized into Christ, we are linked to them in the communion of saints. As we hope to deepen in holiness, we find we’re not alone. We’re connected to others—sometimes strange others—who know holiness.

Let’s be clear: We do not worship saints. We ask them to intercede for us. I do the same thing with my friends and my family. When my kids are traveling, I pray for their safety. I appreciate it when others pray for me when I’m sick. Saints and saints-in-progress are all in this together.

Zacchaeus had a rough past. As a tax collector, he was disliked because he worked for the Romans. He’s the least likely person to end up as the hero of the story when Jesus enters Jericho. But the Lord saw this little guy up in the tree and called him closer. Jesus spent the night at his house because of his repentance and his enthusiasm.

Zacchaeus isn’t a saint in the formal sense, but we can ask his help and advice about anything—including tree-climbing.

Thirty-second Sunday in Ordinary Time

2 Mc 7:1–2, 9–14 / 2 Thes 2:16—3:5

Lk 20:27–38 or 20:27, 34–38

The liturgical year is drawing to an end. The northern hemisphere is coming to the end of autumn and heading for the darker, colder weeks of winter. Days are growing shorter—and the images in today’s readings are somber.

The grisly scene of martyrdom described in 2 Maccabees vividly presents the depth of faith possible from those who love God. Two centuries before Christ, these Jewish heroes knew they were choosing death when they chose to live as God called them to live.

Modern times have martyrs. The twentieth century saw more Christians lose their lives for their faith than any other century—more than all other centuries combined.

We do well to remember the ways others have given their lives. We’re asked to give our lives too, not always by dying for the faith, but by living in the middle of troubling, challenging times and growing firm in faith.

We’re asked to think about somber images but also to know they’re not the last word. We look to those who have died as we look to Jesus’ own death by crucifixion to learn that nothing can separate us from the love of God. Jesus reminds us that the One we serve is “not God of the dead, but of the living.”

Were the Maccabean brothers different from us? They were heroes. But were they like us? They became heroes. God changes the ordinary into the extraordinary. Each Christian, in some way, is called to give his or her life to God.

Embedded in today’s somber readings are strong indicators of how God will take us step by step through our calling. We, like the people in Thessalonica, know “the Lord is faithful; he will strengthen you and guard you from the evil one.”
