Theme : We have a great power to achieve great things for Christ if we just use it.
Theme : People work harder for earthly rewards that last a few years than they do for heavenly ones that last forever.

PRAYER :

Lord, open our hearts to your word, even when it challenges us more than we want to be challenged.

Lord, open our minds to your word, even when it disturbs us more than we want to be disturbed.

Lord, help us put your word into practice, even when it means changing our lives more than we want to change.

Above all, Lord, help us realize that you want to achieve great things through us and that we can achieve great things for you if we but open our hearts to you.

Twenty-Fifth Sunday in Ordinary Time: September 18th

The dishonest manager in today's parable knew how to manipulate money to his own advantage. But the Gospel warns that no one can serve both God and money. Which do I serve? Is my stewardship such that anyone can tell?

Fr. Dennis's Corner: Stop Complaining!

Some people read newspapers every morning. And first thing in the morning, they watch News on TV. They fill their minds with the latest exposes. The latest politician caught in graft. The latest violence in the world. While maneuvering through traffic, they listen to the same bad news on radio. And during lunchtime, with officemates, they become expert political analysts. They discuss which clown said what foolishness. And everyday, they arrive at the same conclusion: Our country is going to the dogs. After work, they go home and unwind in front of the TV set. What will they watch? A review of the bad things they already know, blow-by-blow, in full action, color, and sound effects.

And we wonder why we're miserable. And we wonder why we're getting sick. And we wonder why we're not earning more money. And we wonder why we can't start our own little business. And we wonder why we're not growing spiritually.

May I suggest a new way of feeding our minds? Every morning, let us read a few verses from the Bible. We hear God tell us that He loves us and has a wonderful plan for our lives. Let us open ourselves to the prayer of God's blessings all around us that day!

Because complaining is useless. It's a total waste of energy, time, and saliva. We too busy making our community great by the little things that we do everyday. This community will be great not by any leader. Our community will be great if you'll make it great. If everyone lights just one little candle, what a bright world this will be.

Praise!

Twenty-fifth Sunday of the Year :

In the light of what Jesus has to say concerning wealth, every-one of us has to do some hard thinking and sincere praying about our attitude towards material possessions. The gospel is especially warning us against making money the goal of our existence. Money plays such an important role in our daily lives that it influences us deeply, whether we have it or not. In a world where values are out of focus, money talks, opens doors and is a voice that is always heard and listened to. Given the emphasis society places on having lots of riches, it's hard to remain indifferent to its power. Money is something we have to use but, at the same time, watch, in case it gets a grip on us and destroys us by becoming our god. At the end of our life, what will count is the person we are and the good we have done, and not what we have accumulated in material possessions.

The gospel message is summed up in the quote, 'Money is an instrument that can buy everything but happiness, and purchase a ticket to every place but heaven.'

Prayer : Heavenly Father, make us realize that it is only through our concern that your love and care can reach the poor and the neglected. Help us to be generous in the time we spend with them. We make our prayers through Christ our Lord. Amen.
